

Distribution

Delivered Where You Need It

- pick & pack
- direct shipments
- kits

Our facilities are primed for your distribution needs small or large.

We are your distribution solution. Whether you need a complete order manufactured and delivered to one location, or you need it divided among several locations, our distribution staff can handle your requests. If you need the shipment delayed until a later date of release our warehouses are here to serve you.

If you need us to ship only a portion of the products to your locations and to store the unused items for future delivery you can employ our pick & pack service. Now a simple request will have the items needed on its way quickly with proper documentation created for your review. The remainder will be warehoused in your inventory area ready for the next request. Ask how this service can save you time, staff, and of course money.

A popular request is for "Kit" building. In this scenario, several items need to be grouped together and shipped as one item. New employee kits, new plant locations, and promotional campaigns all require this service. We have the space and personnel to provide this service. Once again distribution can be handled as direct, partial or Pick & Pack.

Contact your IDS® representative to find the services that are right for you.

Combining our production capabilities, our warehouse facilities, and our distribution services creates one powerful solution for you.
